

I'm Niki Green, aka the Bourbon Maven, and I drink and I know things - especially things about whisky. After traveling all over the world touring distilleries and wineries, I took my love for liquor to a higher level and became an Executive Bourbon Steward and Certified Specialist of Spirits. In 2018, I launched the Seattle and Bay Area chapters of a global social club called Women Who Whiskey where I currently serve as the West Coast President.

SERVICES

My passion is sharing what I know about fine spirits. And since starting this journey, I've educated 1500+ people in both corporate and relaxed settings.

Whiskey Education (2 hours)

$50-150 per person, max class size 10 in home speakeasy; If traveling, max size is based on the location

Allow me to introduce your group to the world of whiskey in the privacy of a personal speakeasy (Oakland or Seattle only). Class curriculum can be tailored to the individual needs of your group, but often includes:

- Whisk(e)y 101 - understanding the differences between Scotch, Irish, American and Japanese spirits
- Overview of the distilling process
- Guided premium tasting

Corporate Events (Flexible time)

$500 minimum, max class size 1,000

Curriculum will be tailored to the needs and budget of your group. Whether you are looking for an educational class to shake up a team building or a hosted cocktail hour for a holiday event, I will build an agenda with your employees or clients in mind.

Non Profit Events (1-2 hours)

Pricing TBD

Looking to add some interest to your silent or live auction? Feature a Bourbon Maven experience for attendees' bidding pleasure. Or auction a Bourbon Maven signature cocktail and tasting for participating tables. I'll cater the offering to suit your needs.

TESTIMONIALS

The Whisk(e)y experience with Niki was amazing! I can't recommend it highly enough! If you live or are visiting in the Bay Area, you should absolutely do this experience! Niki made it so much fun, we learned a lot and we made new friends in the process. My fiancé who isn't even a whiskey drinker loved the experience and found some that she enjoyed!

I did this with a girlfriend of mine and a few other women and it was great! Niki has a ton of knowledge and is genuinely interested in educating others on the various nuances of spirits. She provided snacks & ample tastings and I would recommend this experience 10 fold!

Niki welcomed the group into her home and had beverages and snacks set out for us. The structure of the experience was organized, with a presentation and a gradual tasting journey through different parts of the world. Niki shared favorites, and also had a lot of beautiful bottle candy to look at in her lovely sipping room. Niki's knowledge and openness made the experience great; we all asked a lot of questions and spent time learning which whiskeys we enjoyed most and why. I came to soak up more knowledge, deepen my whiskey appreciation, and meet cool women. All those boxes were checked, and I feel more connected to other whiskey events in Seattle. Cheers!

This was an experience to remember. Being welcomed into the world of Whisk(e)y through first hand knowledge from an expert was just the beginning. Niki was an amazing host and made my fiancé and I feel very welcomed. All questions were answered and explored through all perspectives. We could not have found such a unique experience anywhere else!

Niki is a stunning host. My small group of three was ecstatic before, during, and after. Through trial and error we figured out our favorite types of whiskey, with the help of Niki of course. She gives you some background knowledge about the history/types and then we dove right into tasting! I just wish I would have brought a notebook to remember all of the amazing information she provided for us! Even if you are not a drinker I recommend giving it a try, like my friend Liz did, you might learn that there is a type of whiskey for everyone!
